Farm Legislation. Below are some of the bills introduced the legislature for benefit or regulaon of farms and farmers. One of the cts relates to the manufacture and sale f vinegar. The bill provides that no vinegar hich is adulterated or misbranded shall following conditions which shall, under the provisions of the act, be termed adulterated vinegar: If it contains any drugs, acids, coloring matter or ingredients not derived exclusively from the substances from which they were respectively made; if it contains less than four grams of acetic acid in 100 cubic centimeters of the vinegar at 70 degrees Farenheit; if manu actured by the destructive distillation of wood known as pyrolygenous acid or acetic acid derived from other sources than fruit, grain, vegetables, sugar o syrup; if it is found to contain any prep ration of lead, copper, sulphur dioxide any substitute for vinegar produced other than by alcoholic and subsequent acetous fermentation or other ingredi nts injurious to health.

branded as follows: If packages containing vinegar made rom wine or fruits which have been reduced with water are not plainly er centum acid strength," or "reduced to forty grains," indicating the acidity to which it has been so reduced; if product made from dried apples or sp ple skins, apple cores and chops by the process of grinding and soaking, with ubsequent alcoholic and acetous fermenestions of the solution thus obtained i not plainly marked to show the material from which it was produced; if the package containing vinegar or its label is not plainly branded with the name of he manufacturer and his place of business; if every container or recentacle package, does not bear plain or conspi ious marks or brands showing the kind of vinegar so delivered and the substance if mixtures of two or more of the vine-which contains any vinegar other than pure cider or apple vinegar, except delivered to the purchaser in the unbroken or substances from which it was made; gars are not plainly and conspicuously branded with the word "compound" to gether with the proportions of the vine gars so mixed. The penalty for the violation is fixed by a fine not exceeding $100 for the first

Another bill will permit farmers exclusive names for their farm homes. I provides that when a proper description of the area comprised in the farm, to gether with the name, is filed with th register of deeds, with a fee of fifty cents, the name shall be registered and no other farm in the county shall be permitted to use the same designation. That Seedless and Coreless Apple

While of decided interest it is too early to become very excited about the alleged coreless and seedless apple. A few weeks ago A. W. Buzzell of Abbottsford, Quebec, exhibited before the pomological society of MacDonald College is number of apples apparently much like the ordinary Fameuse, but which on cutting open had no core whatever and The story is that Mr. Buzzell had bee cropping a block of one hundred Famense trees that had just come into bearing in his orchard. All trees had been top-grafted on seedlings. While grading the apples he noticed a large number peculiarly marked and out of curiosity placed them one side. These were the ones which subsequent examination proved to be without core or seeds. Unfortunately, these apples had unable to tell from what particular trees the abnormal fruit came. He will now have to walt at least another year to learn, when he hopes by grafting to pro-A prominent Montreal nurseryman

W. T. Maconn; the Dominion horticulturist, who also saw these apples on exhibition, says the fruit resembles the familiar Fameuse except that it is a lit-tic longer in shape. He thinks it quite possible that this unusual characteristic may be perpetuated. He saw several specimens cut at the meeting and all were seedless and coreless, there being merely a line down through the flesh to

One hears a good deal about "hooch" in the streets of Oxford County towns and perhaps often wonders where the word comes from. There is no question as to what it means. It seems that away back in 1869 when American troops were stationed in Alaska, they were for-American citizens, went to making home they became generous and treated the natives. It was so bad, the natives had hard work to find a name mean enough for it, but they finally did—"hooche noo." That name was too long for a Tuesday, but is better this morning. This copy of the Gutenberg Bible was presented to the state of Saxony by a Dresden collector. The state, in turn, vested the title in the Leipzig museum and this institution, at the present, is prepared to pass on the heritage to the highest bidder. Artists of Germany, including Max Liebermann, Louis Corinth, and others, are attempting to raise funds to cover the deficit and save the book for Ger many. The value of the Leipzig Bible is practically beyond appraisal. One copy, in bad condition, was sold in 1911 for $500,000. All other examples known are damaged. This Leipzig Bible alone is a perfect specimen, and for that reason, is most highly valued of all these examples of the early

Another Use for X-Ray. The French investigators, who are among the most ingenious, have discovered that the X-ray furnishes a very ready means to detect stony im purities in coal. Now, carbon is very transparent to the Roentgen rays while silicia is opaque to them. Consequently the silicates, which form slag when coal is burned, can be seen Billings Block like a skeleton when the shadow of the coal is projected upon a florescent screen. Had Assistance. In the recent drive to raise mone for the Radcliffe endowment fund ar alumna of that college employed two small boys to sell soap. "Why are you selling the soap?" inquired a lady at a house on Johnnie's beat. "To raise $3,000,000 for Radcliffe," was the prompt reply. "Three mollion dollars!" the lady exclaimed, amused at the youngster's seriousness. "And are you going to raise it all by yourself?" "No ma'am," said Johnnie, "there's another little boy helping me."

Yes, Quite Fair! According to the New York Morning Telegraph, Mr. John Barrymore, strolling aimlessly through the Plaza recent ly, was encountered by an old friend.
"Why, Jack!" exclaimed the old friend.
"It's been such a long time since I've seen you. How are you, anyway?" y, was encountered by an old friend. Mr. Barrymore announced that he was perfectly splendid, or something to the same effect. "But look here! Aren't you opening in 'Hamlet' tonight? What about it?" "Well," he remarked in a oncommittal tone, "it's a good part."

At the Kingsway theater, owing to the absence of one of the company, a recent matinee performance had to be abandoned and the audience were informed that their money would be returned. To the amazement of the Hebe in the bar, one of her patrons appeared and calmly asked for the refund of ninepence which he had expended on a lemonade. "But," gasped the astonished girl, "you can't expect your money back-you've had the lemonade." "Ah," said the optimistic one, "but I shouldn't have spent the money if I hadn't come to this matinee!"-London Opinion.

LADIES' AND MISSES' NewSpringDresses

Quite a number of the best of the Spring Models are here. Suits are of Poiret Twill and Tricotine beautifully trimmed with braid and hand embroidery. Various styles are included, embracing such types as the bloused coats with hip bands and the straight-line tailored models. The styles are particularly smart and have the air of individuality so much desired by well dressed women.

Suits at $21.50, $24.75, $27.50, $34.75, $37.50.

THE NEW SPRING COATS

Beautiful in Design and Very Practical

In regard to the new coats we might describe each coat in detail but even then you would be unable to picture just how smart and good looking they are. The better plan is to come into the store, see the coats, try them on-and realize to your own satisfaction the smartness of the styles and exceptional values. Every favored style of the season can be found in our splendid collection. Materials are of soft and wooly fabrics, over plaids and plain colors with the tan shades predominating, smartly tailored and showing newness in collars, cuffs and buttons.

New Coats at $12.50 up to $49.50.

The Very Midst of the Sewing Period Finds This Store Splendidly Ready

Something New About Fish. Perhaps in no other single article of food has the housewife encountered more difficulty, real or imaginary, than in the preparation, cooking and serving of the various kinds of sea-foods. It has been an interesting study to determine whether or not these seeming objections could be overcome, and the outcome represents a happy solution of a difficult food problem which presented tself in my own bousehold. I wonder if many of us realize that our ish does not have to be full of bones fish does not have to be full of bones when served to our family. Do you know that bonito, Boston mackerel, king fish, Spanish mackerel, blue fish, black fish, cod, flounders, and halibutall flat fish, in fact—hake, haddock, striped bass, whitefish, etc., may be made boneless for the learning or for the asking. The dealer will gladly attend to this, but if you intend to fillet the fish, as the process of boning is called. to this, but if you intend to fillet the fish, as the process of boning is called, have on hand a small, pointed knife, very sharp, for cutting around the skin and skinning, and a large, sharp knife with a pointed end for cutting the flesh away from the bone.

To fillet a flat fish, cut the skin around the edges of both sides; then begin at the upper end and place the skin closely between the knife and the thumb, and pressing with the forefinger, tear the skin off. With a large knife, cut away the flesh from the back-bone by putting the knife between the back-bone and the flesh and pressing toward the left.

Mackerel is more simple, having flesh of a different consistency, and the backbone may be removed by cutting around it and pulling it free from the flesh. The few remaining bones may easily be pulled out. Of course, steaks are filleted by simply removing the center bones. They may then be tied or skewered together, the center being stuffed or not gether, the center being stuffed or not. Tying helps to hold the filleted steak together. Use strips of cheese-cloth or

In cooking filleted fish, dip the fillets in well-salted milk, then in seasoned bread or cracker crumbs, place in a well-ciled baking container, and dot the top of the fish with bits of butter or oil. Bake at 425° F. from twenty minutes to one hour, depending upon the thickness of the fish.

The older methods of frying fish are undeniably good, but a very satisfactory method tried by the writer has been in the use of fairly deep fat. This may be used over and over again for the same purpose. Dip the fish in egg and crackr-crumbs, or one may use flour or cracker dust, corn-meal, or bread-crumbs. This method of frying is adapted particularly to fillets, clam fritters, soft crabs, etc., and although equally applicable to other fishes that may be fried, it does not obviate the use of the small frying-pan. In frying in a shallow pan, I am partial to butter, as it imparts a delicious creditors.
